EMMOA EUSKAL MENDIZALETASUNAREN MUSEOA IN DEFENSE OF OUR MOUNTAINEERING HISTORY

Today, December, 11th 2019, on the International Mountain Day, those who sign the present document would like to manifest the following:

Since its origins in the Basque Country, more than a century ago, mountaineering has represented an activity that broadly transcends sport boundaries by rooting deeply into Basque society.

A proof of such social attachment are the more than 44,000 people that hold membership in local mountaineering federations in the Basque Country, to which we should add the countless people that occasionally visit the mountains.

This continuous presence on summits nearby and worldwide has produced a relevant history, endorsed by an international prestige that constitutes a sense of pride and a sign of identity for the whole country. We cannot allow this sport and cultural heritage to dilute into oblivion from slow weathering over the years.

Therefore, we claim and support the project promoted by EMMOA to create a space where Basque mountaineering has a shelter worthy of its History, to support mountaineering culture and to guarantee its transmission to future generations.

From this declaration, we urge Basque institutions, mountaineers and society to defend a cultural legacy that is part of our History.
